

Fatih Erikli

Software Developer

I create web projects and data visualizations by using ReactJS, NextJS, D3JS, and Django. My works are available on my github (fatiharikli). I do love open source. I lead arguman.org, which is an argument-mapping platform, and silogizma.org a deductive-reasoning tool.

Work Experience

Lead Software Engineer at EPAM Systems

Krakow/Poland and LosAngeles/California

2017 – 2018

Mostly worked as a «ReactJS Consultant» for a client. Whole 1.6 years was some sort of internship experience for me and I'm so glad to be used to part of this giant company.

Senior Software Engineer at Adphorus

Istanbul/Turkey

2015 – 2017

Adphorus is an intelligent advertising platform for the travel industry. I was developing the reusable components and state management layer of an app with complex UI requirements.

Full-stack Developer at Hipo

Istanbul/Turkey

2013 – 2014

Front-end

- I developed a app to upload and manage high-resolution photos.
- I migrated an Ember app to Angular.js

Back-end

- Tornado for REST API of mobile and single-page app
- Neo4J for complex and taxonomical relationships
- MongoDB for document store and location based (geospatial) requirements.

Python Evengalist at Metglobal

Istanbul/Turkey

2013 – 2013

My main role was python-evangelism in the company. I created «metglobal labs» to organize events and workshops with local development communities in Istanbul.

Junior Front-end Developer at Vatan Newspaper

Istanbul/Turkey Dogan Media Center

2010 – 2010

Vatan is a Daily Newspaper published in Turkey. I was responsible for the web version of newspaper. I developed main news page and sub sites of it.

*I clipped some of them to not exceed two pages. Full of them are available on my linkedin profile:
